-  Set Actionable Goals: Objectively track improvement, set realistic goals and identify player pathways.
-  Play Closer To Home: All play can count for UTR, so play in matches close to home to improve your rating. No more weekends spent chasing points.
-  More Opportunities to Compete: Play opponents outside of your traditional age & gender brackets. Wildcard & prize money tournaments count to your rating too!
-  Improve Playing Experience: When players have a UTR, tennis is centered around level, not age, gender or national ranking, leading to more competitive and fulfilling competition.
-  Showcase Your Game: Dynamic player profiles let you showcase your game to college coaches, fans & more.

UTR FOR JUNIORS

Rating Questions

-  What is the benefit of UTR for juniors? UTR provides an equalizer for all players regardless of age, gender, national ranking or location. It is the gold standard in college recruiting and the official rating of the ITA. When players have a UTR, they know their level, can track progress, find competitive matches closer to home and even get recruited for college.
-  Can I benefit from playing someone with a lower UTR? Of course. Playing up or down tests different, equally important muscles that are key to developing your game. That said, UTR does not take into account matches from players with a UTR difference greater than 2.0.
-  How is the rating calculated? UTR is an objective, results-driven rating based on: 1) Strength of opponent; 2) Games won; 3) History of last 30 matches within 12 months. It does not look at wins or losses.
-  Does my UTR affect my USTA rating? No, but USTA scores count for UTR.
-  How do self-posted scores affect my rating? There are two different ratings: UTR and Verified UTR. UTR measures all your play, including self-posted scores and recreational play. Verified UTR only measures Verified UTR matches, USTA, ITF, ITA, WTA ATP and others.

Profile Questions

-  I have missing scores on my player profile, or have a duplicate profile. Go to support.myutr.com to submit a question, or look for the three dots next to your name and click "request profile merge."
-  I just self-rated, and my rating looks off! What do I do? Don't worry! As soon as scores are posted to your profile, your rating will update.
-  How does UTR have some of my scores already? If you have played in USTA matches or sanctioned events, you may already have a UTR.
